Charles Warren Was Speaker At Exercises This Morning

"The Supreme Court and the Bill of Rights," was the subject of the address delivered in Jefferson Hall this morning at the Founders' Day exercises by the Hon. Charles Warren, attorney-at-law, of Boston, formerly Assistant Attorney-General of the United States from 1914 to 1918.

The address was preceded by a formal academic procession, the celebration marking an annual tribute to James Blair, to whom a charter was granted under the seal of the Privy Council on February 8, 1692 (O. S.). The college was to be known as "Their Majesties' Royal College of William and Mary," and it was the first American college to receive a charter from the crown.

"I invite your attention to the historical growth of one of the great functions of the Supreme Court of the United States—that of safeguarding the rights of individuals—so that you may realize, in some degree, what the court means to each of you personally as a citizen," said Mr. Warren in introducing his subject. He showed how the people, after their separation from Great Britain, had established means to insure those human rights which they considered fundamental, and which had been denied under the crown. He also showed that the Constitution would never have been adopted, had not the first ten amendments, which are really the Bill of Rights, been inserted to suit radicals of both Massachusetts and Virginia, including Samuel Adams, James Warren, Patrick Henry, and Thomas Jefferson. "Not all the amendments were found in the Bill of Rights of every State,"

William and Mary Out After History Prize

The Colonial Dames of America of the State of Virginia have announced their prize essay contest for this year.

Two prizes—the first, $50.00, and the second, $25.00—are offered for "the two best essays on events, persons, or localities in the colonial period of Virginia history written by students of colleges and universities in the State. Construction, diction, and finish, as well as subject matter, will be considered in the award." The papers must be prepared before May 10th.

Last year, all the schools in Virginia competed, and William and Mary claimed the honor of winning the only prize offered—$50.00. The prize essay had been presented as a problem in Dr. Morton's American History class by Miss Ida Mae Butcher.

Mr. Swem, one of the chief authorities on colonial history in the State, has always been of great aid to students doing research work in the history department.

Dr. Morton would like to consult with those who wish to participate as soon as possible.

Dramatic Club Plays A Decided Success

The William and Mary Dramatic Club, making its first appearance of the season at Cameron Hall on last Friday night, scored a distinct success in the presentation of two one-act plays, both from a standpoint of dramatic attainment and the pleasing impression which they made on the audience that packed the hall to its utmost capacity. Wide difference in character and appeal enabled one play to balance the other in such manner that it would be hard to pick the best of the two, a choice resting with the individual.

"The Game of Chess," a tragedy by Kenneth Sawyer Goodwin, dealing with the age-old fight between the Russian peasant and the royalist, was the first play on the program. The main action centered around Alexis Alexandrovitch, an Imperial Prefect of Police, played by George W. Reilly. Alexis was noted throughout the country for his cunning in directing the secret service of the Czar, but Asher L. Baker, as Constantin, had begun to doubt that his friend was still the great man he had been. To prove himself, Alexis directed that Boris Ivanovitch Shamrayeff, a much feared agent of the revolutionary party, played by E. Welford Brauer, be admitted to his apartment without being searched for arms. The peasant,

Rev. J. Elliott Ross To Be Guest Here

Rev. J. Elliot Ross, of Washington, will be the honor guest of the Gibbons Club, Sunday, February 10, when he will address the Club at 11 o'clock. Father Ross, as he is known to his catholic friends, is Professor of Ethics in St. Paul's College and has been a prominent catholic writer during the last ten years, having published a number of books not only on religious subjects, but on social problems of today as well.

For six years he was in charge of the Newman Club at the University of Texas where he also taught Ethics. He made many friends there and was loved and respected by both catholics and non-catholics. He succeeded in establishing two scholarships, one for boys and one for girls, besides being instrumental in building a catholic dormitory for catholic young women in particular.

On his way to Williamsburg he will speak in Richmond, Friday night and

Indianettes Defeat Capital City Girls

The William and Mary girls' basketball team, State Champions for 1923, won their second victory of the season in as many games over the George Washington team here last Saturday night, before the final dance of Midwinter. For some unknown reason an exceptionally large audience, especially men, witnessed the "speedy" contest and ringside seats were exceedingly desirable. Governor Trinkle and his staff were among the celebrities present.

The visitors entered the contest determined to wipe out last year's defeat but were unable to cope with Miss Brown's well-trained squad. The home team took the lead from the start and maintained it with ease throughout the game. Although at times the floor work of both teams was ragged, the game was very interesting and characterized by hard, consistent playing. The final score was 19 to 10 in favor of the Indianettes.

Chase led in scoring with 7 field goals and one free throw to her credit; while Ball as substitute forward and Best at center also deserve credit. For the visiting team, Ewers at forward and Woodford at guard divided honors.

Harwood Purchases Half Interest In Shop

Wallace S. "Flicky" Harwood now stands behind the counter at the College Shop, where he greets you with a beaming smile and a hearty "thank you" with each purchase, however small.

According to an announcement made public on February 1, Harwood has purchased the interests of James G. Driver in the College Shop and Pocahontas Tea Room with R. P. "Bob" Wallace, Driver's former partner. The firm will continue to handle the same line as formerly. The purchase price was not made known.

Programs Announced For Tomorrow Night

The program of the Philomathean Literary Society for Saturday, February 9, is as follows:

Orator: G. W. Reilly.

Readers: J. M. Hord, F. J. Barnes.

Declaimers: W. Moore, W. F. Lawson, Jr.

Debate: "Resolved: That the plan for the equalization of taxes as proposed by J. Garland Pollard, be adopted by the Commonwealth of Virginia."

Affirmative: H. H. Johnson, Marshall Travers.

Negative: Alva D. Yeary, A. E. Leeds.

Due to a postponement of the meeting of last week, the Phoenix will present tomorrow night the same program announced in last week's issue of the Flat Hat.

Governor and Solons Visit the College

The College was honored last Saturday by the visit of the State Legislature, with the chief executive, Governor E. Lee Trinkle. The members of the General Assembly, with their friends, numbering about three hundred, began to arrive on the campus about four-thirty. They came over from Yorktown where a celebration was held on the event of opening the new concrete highway to Yorktown, an important part of the Midland Trail.

The Governor and his family were warmly greeted by Dr. Chandler and were taken to his home. The party, upon assembling, went into the chapel. Dr. Goodwin gave a short talk about the College. He related briefly the history of the Institution, and explained the conditions of the dormitories and buildings. The lawmakers were especially invited to visit by Dr. Goodwin the imposing new science building, stately rising on the west side of the campus. The speaker commented on the great success of co-education, and efficient work of the students.

At dinner, Dr. Chandler made a strong appeal to the legislature to aid the cause of education at William and Mary. He gave statistics showing the tremendous expansion of the College since 1919. The need of better equipment such as a dining hall, dormitories, scientific instruments, etc, was explained to them. He gave evidence of the success of the students and referred to the number of students who were unable to be enrolled because of the crowded conditions. Dr. Chandler then introduced the Governor.

The Governor, in his short talk, expressed his appreciation for the work of the College, especially of the democratic spirit that prevails here. With reference to his visit to Yorktown and to the College, he said, "Today we stood on the spot where first began the freedom on our great nation—this was a military affair; tonight we are still more highly honored to stand on the spot where even a greater movement started—the freedom of thought and action in America."

Governor Trinkle made a request of the members of the legislature, urging them to take measures for the advancement of education in the State.

A Correction

An ambiguous quotation appearing in the last issue of the Flat Hat from an address delivered before the Y. M. C. A. by Dr. J. R. Geiger, made it appear that the speaker regarded such things as athletics and social intercourse a waste of time. The substance of what Dr. Geiger had to say was rather that in spite of the very great value of these things in connection with one's education, some students are likely to be so preoccupied with them as to forget the main things for which they came to college, namely, to realize a fully developed and well rounded mind and character.

Among Ourselves

A Column Dedicated to the Women's Student Council

Courage, Council!
Hush, Little Council,
Don't you cry,
You'll make 'em all Angels,
By and by.

The Women's Student Council, realizing the great responsibility which rests upon them in guiding the spiritual, mental and physical actions of the girls, have enacted the following rules which must be obeyed:

1. No girl shall buy more than one package of chewing gum a week; a violation of this rule shall be considered an unnecessary extravagance, and shall be punishable by "campus" for one month.

2. Since it is considered indecent for a girl to see a boy outside of Social Hours, each girl will provide herself with a pair of "blindens" to be worn at all times except Social Hours.

3. No girl may wear more than seventeen hairpins, since the wearing of a number greater than seventeen is construed as "an appearance of evil."

4. No girl may have a date with a man who has not passed the test required by the Society of Pure Minds, of which Society We are the whole cheese.

5. We, in Our Infinite Wisdom, having had little or no experience with men, do solemnly avow that any date is decidedly an appearance of evil, and do discourage any association with men. Tea rooms and ice cream parlors are dens of iniquity, and to safeguard the reputation of the Children in our charge, we discourage the frequenting of such places in company with men. We practice what we preach.

Interesting Posters Displayed On Campus

Posters of French chateaux, palaces and other parts of la belle France have made their appearance in the halls and classrooms and on the campus during this week. The posters were received by Dr. Fichtner from the State Railway Office at Paris, where they are made by leading French artists and art printers for the five railway systems of France. These artistic affiches are a familiar sight in all French railway stations. Their object is to encourage tourisme on the part of the public.

The art displayed in this poster work has been deemed to be of such high order that the leading art museums and libraries in this country have placed them on exhibition. The New York Public Library, for example, has kept a number of these railway posters in its lobby constantly for a number of years, changing them as new ones are published. This splendid French commercial art grew out of the war period, when, during the crisis, the best French artists were enlisted for this type of war publicity. The success of many French loans and the unbreakable solidarity of French opinion and patriotism during and since the war, is ascribed in part to the tremendous appeal of these government posters. The idea of outdoor advertising in the interest of carrying on the war was soon adopted in England and later in the United States where the artistry also reached a high order of merit.

The pictures of Mont Saint Michel, the chateau d'Amboise, the chateau d'Usse, the Palace of Popes and other places depicted by the pictures on the campus are faithful representations, though lacking the charm and interest of the originals.

REV. J. ELLIOT ROSS TO BE GUEST HERE

in Newport News Saturday night, coming here Sunday morning. The Gibbons Club members feel highly honored in having so distinguished a guest to visit them and cordially invite all their friends to attend the services to be held in Philomathean Hall at 11 o'clock. Father Ross is a speaker accustomed to addressing university and college students and has a special message for all the young people who are preparing themselves for better service.

Visitors will be cordially welcomed.

Uncle Sam's Warning To American Women

Home life in America and the future American race are going to suffer if women are to continue in the business world in such large numbers, according to two government officials whose activities are concerned with the working-woman phase of industry.

"No matter how much we shout about Equal Rights," says Miss Mary Anderson, of the U. S. Department of Labor, "we must admit there is a physical difference between man and woman, and a woman cannot compete with a man without suffering the consequences."

"Thousands are breaking down every year—nervous wrecks. Better a happy wife and mother than a nervous sickly person whom no one wants around."

To which Dr. E. E. Turner, of the same government agency, adds: "What sort of mothers are we going to produce in America from these run-down sickly girls who are marrying in hosts every year? . . . Girls who starve themselves at lunch time to save money with which to buy silk stockings and fur coats." He says the work is not so deleterious as the modern dress and the way girls in business chase the bubble of amusement.

THE DOUBLE-DRIBBLE

The girls' basketball team again stands out as one of the champion teams of this district. Having come through their first collegiate game with a decisive victory, the Indianettes bid fair to continue their winning streak for another season. The spectators seem to fail to realize that they are witnessing a championship team in action. The George Washington girls, although they had somewhat of a handicap, or rather kneelesscap, over the William and Mary team, could not overcome the superiority of our co-eds.

Even the Governor enjoyed the game last Saturday night; after all, governors are only regular fellows.

Chase, the little forward, certainly led the Geo. Washington guard a merry one.

The Green, Silver and Gold relay team matches its speed against the Richmond quartet tomorrow night. This event is the feature of the Blues' indoor meet, and it will be especially interesting as "Scrap" Chandler is running anchor man for the Indian team, and Tharpe, Coach Dobson's crack middle-distance man, is running in the same position on the Spider team.

Tonight the basketball team plays the Roanoke quint. A clean victory will somewhat make up for the football defeat of last fall. The two teams are about evenly matched, but the Indians should come through on top. The team returns tomorrow for a two-day rest and then starts on its second five-game trip, this time through Carolina. They should win the majority of their games on this trip.

* * * *

Washington and Lee has about the best team in the State this year and it ranks along with the University of North Carolina for South Atlantic honors. Both teams are entered in the Southern meet at Atlanta this year. Carolina won this meet two years ago and Mercer last year.

The men on the trip this week are: Capt. Hicks, J. Todd, Sexton, L. Todd, Metcalf, Cofer, Matsu, Denton, Fiedelson, and Gornito.

Boat Club Defeats Varsity By One Point

Getting away to a flying start, and after holding the lead until the last few minutes of play, almost certain victory was snatched from the Indian basketeers, when Brown, forward of the Virginia Boat Club, caged the basket that brought defeat to William and Mary by a lone point, a few seconds before the final whistle blew. The game ended in a 25 to 24 score, with the Virginia Boat Club in the van.

The Indians were early in their attack and had tallied up four baskets before their opponents could get a shot. Metcalf started the affair by getting two foul shots, followed by field goals by Todd, Sexton, and Hicks. The Indians offense was bewildering to the Boat Club, who were held at bay during the first half with apparent ease, and William and Mary bade fair to lead throughout the last half, when the visitors seemed to find a streak that caused them to ring up goals in quick succession, enabling them to overcome a big lead and win by a sole counter, as the final whistle blew.

The teamwork of the Indians was supreme and notwithstanding the Boat Club's close guarding, the ball was worked through to the basket consist-

Relay Team Off To Richmond Tomorrow

Tomorrow the W. & M. relay team goes to Richmond to compete against the quarter-milers from the University of Richmond. The meet will be held in the Blues Armory, and is under the auspices of the Richmond Blues and Coach Dobson of the U. of R. There will also be a relay between Hampden-Sidney and Randolph-Macon as well as similar events between different organizations of the city. A number of open events will also be staged, both track and field.

A similar meet was held last year, with each man running 330 yards, making it a  $\frac{3}{4}$ -mile relay. The result of the relay last year between the Spiders and the Indians was declared a tie by the judges. Tomorrow night the race will be a full mile, each man

Virginia Five Trims William-Mary, 32-20

The fast traveling Virginia quint

took another strong team into camp here tonight when William and Mary succumbed to a 32 to 20 count. It was the seventh consecutive victory of the season for the Cavaliers. The Orange and Blue presented a tight defense at the outset, the Indians being able to register but one field goal in the first twelve minutes of play, and the half ending 14 to 5.

The visitors put up a much better exhibition in the second period and midway the half braced, and boosted their total through spectacular shots from near the side lines by Sexton and Captain Hicks. Two quick field goals by Virginia's center, Miller, checked the rally. Holland played his best game of the season, sinking two clean shots from near midfloor. Miller was the high scorer, though suffering from an injury sustained in the Tech game at Roanoke Saturday.

For the Indians, Sexton and Captain Hicks played best. Sexton's lone basket in the first half was of the circus variety.

Line-up and summary follows:

Virginia (32)	Pos.	W. & M. (20)
McCoy	F.	Metcalf
Holland	F.	J. Todd
Miller	C.	Sexton

Three Games Played By Frats Mon. Night

The second series of games in the Inter-Iraternity League were played Monday night, February 4, before a crowd which was smaller than usual and seemed to be less interested than before, probably on account of the many social events of the past week. The games were well played and full of fight and thrills from start to finish. There was no wrestling or boxing after the games because of lack of time.

In the first game the Sigma Delta Tau won their first game in the league by defeating the Pi Kappa Alpha in a hard fought encounter by a 19-13 score. The Pi Kappa Alphas were unable to work the ball to their basket, and when they did missed many easy shots.

The S. D. T.'s had a well balanced team with two accurate tossers in Meads and King. Metcalf played a star game for Pi K. A. while Frasier and McGuire also played well. Meads, King, and Delk played best for S. D. T. The feature of the game was the close guarding of both teams.

In the second game the Sigma Nu's ran over the Kappa Sigma's for a 16-5 count. The Sigma Nu's had possession of the ball the majority of the time and would have made a bigger score had their forwards been more accurate. The game which was more like football than basketball was full of thrills and hard fought every minute.

The Sigma Nu's had the speedier and exhibited better basketball than Kappa Sigma. Young, Saffelle and Wells played a star game for Sigma Nu, while Hilligas, Shields and Hancock played best for Kappa Sigma.

The Theta Delta Chi flashed the best basketball of the evening in walling Sigma Phi Epsilon 26-9. They had a good passing team, were all over the floor, and accurate shots when near the basket. The S. P. E. players were guarded so closely that they had to shoot from the center of the floor. The Theta Delta Chi team jumped into the lead at the first and were never headed. Elliot was the leading scorer for Theta, while Chandler and Lash also played a good game. Millar, Medlock and Newman played best for S. P. E. The victory put Theta in first place in the league.

Officers Discussed By Student Govt.

The last monthly meeting of the Women's Student Government Organization under the present regime was held in the College chapel Monday afternoon.

After a recitation by Etta Bell Walker, Elizabeth Kent, President of the Organization, discussed the election of officers to be held on the first Monday in March.

The qualifications of officers were discussed from the floor. Leah James proposed an amendment to the constitution to the effect that the president should be a Junior at the time of her election.

Also a motion was made and carried that all convention delegates be elected from the council by the Organization at large.

With the singing of "Alma Mater," the meeting adjourned.

Committee Revises Olympics Schedule

Competitions in the eighth Olympic games in Paris next year will occupy the greater part of May, June and July, according to the revised schedule just published by the French Olympic committee.

Beginning in May with the Rugby and association football trials, the culminating point of the Olympics will come with the great athletic week, July 5 to 13.

After the conclusion of the winter sports at Chamonix February 6, the next Olympic competition will come with Rugby football, from May 3 to May 19, and with soccer football from May 15 to June 9.

Then will come the ceremonial opening of the games, which will be preceded by a festival commemorating the thirteenth anniversary of the resumption of the Olympiad. The festival will be celebrated June 23. The following day a gala performance will be given at the opera.

Guests At Banquet

The delegates from the federations of sports and athletics represented at the games, after having been officially received by President Millerand at the Elysee on July 3, will be the guests of the French Olympic committee at a banquet.

Finally, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of July 5, the solemn ceremony of the official opening of the games will take place at the Colombes stadium.

The revised schedule of games follows:

Athletics, Colombes stadium, July 5 to 13.

Pentathlon, Colombes stadium, July 12 to 17.

Lawn Tennis, Colombes stadium, July 13 to 20.

Gymnastics, Colombes stadium, July 17 to 23.

Equestrian games, Colombes stadium, July 21 to 27.

Swimming competitions will be held at the new stadium of the Porte Las Tourelles from July 17 to July 23.

The polo games are scheduled for the Bois-de-Boulogne and Saint Cloud from June 19 to July 4.

Lot of Shooting

The shooting competition will take place as follows: The deer hunting shoot at Satory; clay pigeon shooting at Isy-les-Moulineaux; long distance target shooting at chalons, and shorter distance at Rheims, from June 21 to June 29.

Rowing races will be held at Argenteuil on the Seine river, about one mile from the Colombes stadium, from July 13 to July 17.

For the "sports de combat," as the French committee terms boxing, wrestling, weight-lifting, bar-bell and fencing, the use of the Crique de Paris, in the center of Paris, has been secured.

The dates are:

Graeco-Roman wrestling, July 6 to July 9.

Catch-as-catch-can, July 10 to 13.

Boxing, July 15 to 20.

Weights, July 21 to 24.

Fencing, July 20 to 27.

Dancers in the Yukon are said to be tripping the light fantastic to radio music from New York.

BOAT CLUB DEFEATS VARSITY BY ONE POINT

ently. Both quints missed many throws, and their inability to convert free throws into points, was noticeable.

The Indians were more than a match for the Richmonders in floor work, but the Boatmen held a decided edge in shooting. Many of the shots were of a spectacular nature and tended to liven things up when the game started to lag.

Sexton played a stellar game for William and Mary, while the floor work of Captain Hicks and Metcalf showed to advantage. John and Lee Todd proved clever defensive men, the visitors failing to run their total into the two digit column until late in the game. For the visitors Wharton and Atkinson played best, the former being the pivot of the Boat Club offense. The contest was one of the fastest played on the local court this season. Interest ran rampant at every stage of the game.

Line-up and summary follows:

W. & M. (24)	Pos.	Va. B. C. (25)
Hicks	R. F.	Wharton

Time of halves—20 minutes.
Referee—Wood (Richmond).

The Retort Courteous

(From the Detroit Free Press)

Two women met at a tea. They conversed a while; then the first said: "Well, I must be off. I've an appointment with mother."

The second woman gave an astounded laugh.

"My dear," she said, "is it possible that you have a mother living?"

"Yes, oh, yes," said the first woman; and then she laughed in her turn. "And do you know," she said. "I don't believe she looks a day older than you."

Doctors' Club Met Last Tuesday Night

The Doctors' Club held its first regular meeting last Tuesday night in the Main Building, at which time the constitution drawn up by the committee was accepted with a few additions. The Club will meet twice a month on Friday nights.

The meetings of the Club will be taken up with discussions and papers pertaining to medical and dental sciences. Heretofore, the Doctors' Club has been organized for the sole purpose of taking the picture for the annual, but this year the Club plans to function as an organization in which the pre-medical and pre-dental students can discuss the subjects in the particular line of medicine or dentistry that they expect to follow.

At the last meeting publicity and social committees were appointed to keep the Club before the students. The program committee will have a program for the next meeting and it is hoped that all members will be present.

The next meeting will be held Friday night, February 15th, at seven o'clock in the Phoenix Literary Society Hall.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAYS A DECIDED SUCCESS

who had interrupted a game of chess between Alexis and Constantin, entered the room with the intention of shooting the Prefect, but was so bewildered with the other's calmness and apparent indifference to the consequences that he could not kill his victim. In turn Alexis succeeded in getting the man to take poison and kill himself, while he, Alexis, drank the same dose and remained unharmed. He explained the oriental trick to the peasant just before he fell dead at the feet of his intended victim.

As Alexis, Mr. Reilly gave an excellent interpretation of the Nobleman who made every move with the greatest deliberation and forethought, as one who plays the game of chess. He matched wits and cunning with his self-appointed slayer in such a way that the audience was kept tense waiting for his every move. The part called for a man of slow speech and motion, making his plans in regard to the slightest detail and it is sufficient to say that Mr. Reilly filled the part excellently.

Playing opposite him in the role of an assassin who cared nothing for his own life, and intent only upon taking that of a man whom he regarded as representative of all royalty, Mr. Brauer handled his lines with exceeding ease. His part was difficult and the run of emotions hard to achieve, yet he carried it through very well. Asher Baker made a very pleasing Constantin while "June" Hord took the part of a footman.

In the presentation of "Wurzel-Flummery," a comedy by A. A. Milne, the audience was given a half hour of the most entertaining humor. The plot dealt with the reception of a most extraordinary will of an old gentleman who, together with his nephew, wished to see if there were any two men, especially in Parliament, who would accept the condition of taking the ridiculous name of Wurzel-Flummery if they were left the sum of fifty thousand pounds.

The honors of this delightful little playlet were carried equally by all five members of the cast. William E. Bull, as Mr. Robert Crawshaw, Member of Parliament, furnished much of the fun through his contention that, although the money carried with it the name of Wurzel-Flummery, it should be accepted as a sacred trust. His lines could not have been done in any better manner. Next, perhaps, should be mentioned Junius Hord as Denis Clifton, the self-styled solicitor and executor of his uncle's will. Although he appeared in the latter part of the play, he quickly took the center of the stage and afforded much amusement.

Margaret Crawshaw, wife of Robert, was played by Margaret Lawless, furnished fine support to her Parliamentary husband, her frantic efforts to pronounce the name about to be wished on the family, meeting with great unsuccessfulness. Charles Pollard, as Richard Meriton, a young member of Parliament and opposed in politics to Crawshaw, was excellent, his puns at the name Wurzel-Flummery proving a boomerang when he found himself in the same position as his political rival. Anne Townsend was very charming as Viola Crawshaw, and she expressed the sentiments of the audience at the end when she said that it would be just as well for her to be Mrs. Wurzel-Flummery, because she would have to be Miss Wurzel-Flummery anyway.

The same two plays were presented at the Arts' League's Theatre in Norfolk Monday and Tuesday evenings, where they were given an enthusiastic ovation. The success of the plays is due in a great measure to the efforts and time given them by Dr. W. A. Montgomery and Professor E. M. Gwathmey who directed the plays.

Social And Otherwise

The Edith M. Baer Club held a short business meeting in chapel Monday evening.

* * *

Professor Edward Gwathmey addressed the Y. M. C. A. last Thursday evening. His subject was "Solomon's Wives." This was the third of a series of Thursday night talks given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The speaker for the next meeting has not been announced.

* * *

The professor having the fewest number of failures in his class is the best teacher, according to a statement made by Professor J. Garland Pollard in a talk to his classes in Virginia Government.

* * *

A number of people from Williamsburg and the College will go to Richmond tonight to hear Fritz Kreisler in recital at the City Auditorium.

* * *

Among the Alumni returning for the Mid-Winter Dances were: Messrs. Otto Lowe, Ferdinand Chandler, Fay Cline, Buddie Green, Ray Dawson, Gi Stephens, Bill Henley, Stuart Sorg and Aubrey Aaron.

running 440 yards on a 110-yard track, making four laps for each runner.

Coach Jones will select his quartet from Chandler, Winder, Spraker, Hancock, Charles, Moss, Gilmore and Yeates. The team that represented the Indians last year was Charles, Hancock, Spraker and Chandler. "Scrap" Chandler, running anchor man that night, ran one of the best races of his track career, for when he received the baton from his man the Richmond anchor man had a twenty-yard lead, but "Scrap" cut this down and finished even with his opponent.

Most of the men on the relay squad have been in training since early fall, but they have been greatly handicapped by the lack of an adequate running track. Coach Jones has been putting the squad through stiff practice this last week, and has been holding time trials the last three days to pick his four best men for this distance.

Students Approve Bok Peace Award

On successive days from Tuesday, January 29th, to Friday, February 1st, the Bok Peace Plan Award was presented and explained to the students of the College of William and Mary assembled by classes in the chapel of the College by Dr. Morton and Dr. Goodwin. The plan was not presented as the best possible ideal plan, but from the point of view that it represented to those responsible for the Award the best practical plan under the existing circumstances.

The result of the ballots taken was a vote of 381 in favor of the plan and 23 opposed to the plan.

The presentation of the plan to the students of the College was designed not only to secure votes for or against the proposition presented, but also to acquaint the students with the situation out of which the plan had its origin and with the details of the proposals which the plan contains

Our Weekly Fact Worth Remembering

"What are Prince Rupert's Drops?"
Answer: The name is given to tadpole shaped pieces of glass, formed by melting the glass and allowing it to drop into cold water. If the point of the tail of one of these be broken off, the whole will at once shiver to pieces with a loud report. Owing to the sudden cooling, the particles have not had sufficient time to arrange themselves in a stable manner, and hence they fly asunder as soon as the structure is broken. These curious drops are commonly supposed to have been discovered by Prince Rupert, the grandson of James I of England; but Faraday says that they were simply brought by him into England in 1660.

Y. W. C. A. Presents One-Act Playlet

"Setting the Clock Ahead," a farce in one act, was presented at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A., January 29.

The play, the scene of which is laid in a small-town New England home, is a take-off on the disturbance caused by the system of daylight saving time. In the course of the action, each of the five members of the family sets the clock up one hour, thinking that he is the only one who has remembered to do so.

Behold the result, a drowsy and irritable family getting breakfast at 12:30 at night.

Anne Cameron, a freshman from Massachusetts, directed the performance, which she adapted from a play written by her aunt, Mrs. E. L. Mackomber.

The cast consisted of:
Pa—Blonnie Johnson.
Ma—Fern Truckenmiller.
Henry—Nina Trevett.
Lucy—Julia Howard.
Bud—Elizabeth Smucker.

GOVERNOR AND SOLONS VISIT THE COLLEGE

He told of endowments and gifts amounting to over a million dollars that would be given to the State for use in education if the General Assembly would appropriate half of that amount. The Governor concluded by assuring his support to the College.

J. T. McAllister, President of the Midland Trail Association, also gave a short talk that concluded the evening. Colonel Cloke, Commanding Officer of Camp Eustis, was also present.

Another distinguished guest was "Big Chief" Cook, of the Pamunkey Indian Reservation. The old fellow was a man of the sterling qualities that are so characteristic of his race. He took great interest in Brafferton Hall, America's first school for the red man.

During the visit of the lawmakers, a regimental band of Fort Eustis kept up a gay fanfare that helped to make the closing of the day one of the most eventful of the College.

Mabel Normand films are barred in many movie houses. Inasmuch as their production antedates the scandal causing the ban, the atonement must be a vicarious one on the part of her employers.

Art Club Display A Genuine Treat

A very interesting art exhibit was opened last week in the North wing of the Main Building and continued through this week. The exhibit, which was conducted under the auspices of the Art Club of the College, consisted of a number of portraits and etchings in pencil, the work of Miss Rosamund Niles, of New York.

The subjects of these portraits and etchings range from the nobility of European countries to obscure scenes about the byways of the American Metropolis.

In addition to the pencil work, there were several portraits in water colors and charcoal.

CHARLES WARREN WAS SPEAKER THIS MORNING

he explained, "but at least five were found in every one—freedom of religion, freedom of the press, relief against unreasonable searches and search warrants, trial by jury, and deprivation of life, liberty, and property only by the law of the land by due process."

Mr. Warren stated that when radicals of today assail the Constitution as the work of the wealthy, they show that they are ignorant; that indispensable parts of the Constitution are there as the result of radical demand in 1788. The Bill of Rights protects the minority from the majority and stands against sudden, passionate judgments of the moment by legislation.

"In making their Constitution, the people of the United States meant that the Bill of Rights should be enforced and should be binding even upon the government itself. For this purpose the supreme judicial power was vested in a Supreme Court," stated Mr. Warren. "George Wythe and the patriots of 1788 stated that the chief value of the Bill of Rights lay in the enforcement."

In order to prove that the Supreme Court is not only maintaining this power but is using it at all time, Mr. Warren stated that the Court has held that Congress has violated the Bill of Rights nine times since the year 1867. He made individual mention of each case, showing in what respect the violations were declared. "The protection of the court is, therefore, actual—and not mere matter of theory," he concluded.

Mr. Warren was associated for several years in the practice of law with former Governor Russell, of Massachusetts, until the latter's death. He is author of several well known books on law history and the courts of the United States. His book entitled "The Supreme Court in United States History," last year won the highest Pulitzer Prize of $2,000 for the best book on American history written during 1922.

Two other volumes are his "History of the Harvard Law School," and "History of the American Bar" (Colonial and Federal up to the year 1860). In both of these books, Mr. Warren devoted space to a description of the lectureship in law of George Wythe in the first school of law in America, which was founded at this Institution in 1779 under the influence of Thomas Jefferson.

A Tip

You may suppose you have a girl
Whose love is really true,
Who is sincere in all she does
And all she says to you.
But these days girls are far too wise
To fall for any man,
They lead you on and take your dough
The very best they can.
They tell you you're the only one
They care a cent about,
Then look around for other guys
As soon as you've gone out.
So take a tip from one who knows
And follow by it, too,
Be sure that you can 2-time them
Before they 2-time you. —D.
